WWGA MEMBERSHIP LEVELS

PRODUCER MEMBER $100.00 Minimum

Benefits include eligibility to consign rams to Ram Sale and/or place rams on Summer Ram Sire Test, receive WWGA publications, such as WWGA News, and voting privileges. Additional amounts paid place member at different levels Blue ($100-$499) Bronze ($500-$999) Silver ($1,000-$1,999) and Gold ($2000 or more). Members paying $150 or more receive WY Sheep, our publication of management and production research of interest to sheep producers.

ASSOCIATE MEMBER $50.00.

This level is designed for those supporters who do not own sheep. Ideal for retired sheep producers or other individuals who have an affinity for Wyoming's sheep industry. Associate members receive our WWGA News newsletter, the Ram Sale catalog, and ASI membership. Voting Privileges; not eligible to place rams on Summer Ram Sire Test or consign rams to annual ram sale.

YOUTH MEMBER – College Student: $50.00 Youth under age 18: $20.00

This level offers two options for youth with an interest in sheep. The top level is for those supporters who are in College and are planning or considering a future in the sheep industry. For our younger producers we offer a youth under 18 level. This level is ideal for 4-H participants or Future Farmers of America members. Not eligible to consign rams to the WY Ram Sale or on Summer Ram Test.

ASI Dues $50.00 minimum

The ASI is a national organization of sheep producers. Each year, the WWGA pays the ASI Dues for our members. As a WWGA member, you will receive the benefits of ASI membership, including the monthly Sheep Industry Magazine and eligibility to serve on ASI Councils and Committees. So that we may use all your WWGA membership dues for WWGA activities, we ask you to reimburse us for your ASI dues. For producers with less than 1,100 sheep, the minimum payment is $50. For more sheep, the cost is 4.5 cents per head. If you choose to pay ASI dues, please include them with your total amount due to the WWGA.
